

2017 Travel Adventures Across Nebraska

Every year I look forward to the spring announcement of the two Nebraska travel incentive programs.

The Nebraska Great Park Pursuit sends you to find posts at twenty different Nebraska state parks and other community locations. Whenever possible, use the GPS coordinates to find the rubbing posts for the Nebraska Great Park Pursuit. Since they do want you to get out and explore, the posts are not just at the entrances. Note: prizes are randomly chosen based on the number of places visited.

The Nebraska Passport program features 80 places chosen by Nebraska Tourism. The more interactive way to participate is to pick up a free booklet. You travel around and get stamps in your passport. There is only an app available which is helpful if you are driving by a place at midnight or if a place is randomly closed. If you are within the vicinity, you can get a stamp on your app. At times, the app may not work, so you may want to travel with both. Last year, I used both booklets, and they combined my stamps without any problem.

If you visit the program websites, they organize their locations by tour or simply on a map. But I know for our family, we tend to travel to one area at a time. Organizing the places by region is very helpful to me. This way if I am going out to North Platte, I can see all of nearby places on one chart. To keep it simple for my sake, I am putting the locations from each region in alphabetical order.

Across the State: The Nebraska Mobile Museum – We had the opportunity to attend the opening night of this family museum. To read my review, please click this "Odyssey Through Nebraska" link.
